This work takes as its starting point the question "What Philosophic-Organizational Vantage Point is Needed for Revolutionary Transformation Today?" Gogol offers an answer by exploring organizational practices amidst the Paris Commune, the 2nd International, the Russian Revolution of 1905 and 1917, the Spanish Revolution of 1936-1937 and the Hungarian Revolution of 1956. The analysis is extended through an engagement with the theoretical-organizational concepts of such thinkers as Lassalle, Lenin, Luxemburg, Trotsky and Pannekoek.
